

THE EDITOR
SAYS—

The Standard management will continue to operate under the code though the Blue Eagle is dead. In our line the code has not been enforced, though perfect cases were presented of chiseling which always will be. Our increased force will be kept, the same rate of pay and the shorter hours observed. No business establishment can operate without making a fair profit in order to pay expenses and live. The management employs a loyal force who pay their bills and are respected citizens of the community. Our advice to all who have been operating under the code is to continue so, as it is best for all concerned.

We heard a man say that he wouldn't depend on his wife as a character witness because she knew all of his shortcomings and they might bob up in her mind before any of the good deeds that she might testify to, and this was about the true state of affairs. We have seen men being more than polite and agreeable to in company that his wife knew was the contrary at home. Boy, oh boy, don't let your wife tell all she knows about you, or you are sunk.

Walter McGee of Kansas City, one of the brothers who abducted Miss Mary McElroy, and who was to have been hanged today, was committed to life imprisonment by Governor Park, on the plea of Miss McElroy. We suppose in the course of time he will be paroled, then married, and they will live happy ever after.

The killing of the blue eagle has accomplished one thing that pleases us. It has given the man who pays the bill the right to hire and fire any of his force that he believes is a disturber or is not giving value received for his pay. Let this soak in on union agitators.

Hon. Charles Henson, of Springfield, Mo., was a Sikeston visitor Saturday and honored The Standard editor with a visit. Mr. Henson was a candidate in the last Democratic primary for Supreme Court Judge, but failed of the nomination. It is likely he will be a candidate at the coming election to fill the unexpired term of Judge Fitzsimmon, deceased. Governor Park and J. C. Collet are both spoken of as candidates for this office.

President Green of the American Federation of Labor, has threatened to call a strike of all union labor in the United States if his demands are not met. He fails to consider the men who own the plants and pay the bill. If the President would order the Department of Justice agents to arrest and throw in jail President Green and all his agitators for inciting riots, he would do all parties a good deed.

Howard Turner, just back from a trip in Northwest Missouri states farming in that section very backward with rains and cold weather preventing much plowing. At this late date corn will hardly mature up there before frost that will leave it soft. In this section of the state cold weather and heavy rains have given bugs and worms a chance to play havoc with melons, corn and cotton.

We were not at all impressed with the Passion Play as given at the Methodist church Tuesday evening. In the first place the picture was too dim to show good and in the second place we didn't believe all that was shown, and in the third place, to us, it was sacrilegious. However, a large audience was present and the receipts satisfactory.

Decoration Day has come and gone and few soldiers of the Civil War remain. Their line grows thinner and their bodies more feeble and but a few more years none will be left to tell of their feats performed in battle. The Confederate soldiers had at most six hundred thousand men in the field, while the Federal soldiers at the peak numbered a million and a half, so you see the south put up a wonderful fight for more than four years.

This paragraph is to notify local churches that advertising rates will be charged for space taken up by pictures of evangelists and outside preachers who hold meetings in this city. These preachers get paid for their services and should pay for their publicity.

The 118 page Progress Edition put out by the Poplar Bluff American-Republic, was, perhaps, the largest paper ever issued in the Central West for a city of like size. Its general make-up, the different sections devoted to the subject-matter contained, the immense amount of time and money spent to perfect this edition speaks volumes for the office force from editor to devil. The merchants of the city should be complimented for the liberal support given the management for to them lies the success of the Progress Edition.

Fox Farm Equipment Concern In Morehouse Serves Many Farmers

J. Henry Fox, who manages the Fox Farm Equipment Company in Morehouse, has built a substantial business, selling implements to numerous farmers living throughout the district. Mr. Fox handles a complete line of John Deere farm equipment.

During the selling season, Mr. Fox disposes of an average of two carloads of new John Deere machinery each month. This season alone he has sold thirty-nine tractors.

At his quarters in the Dan Ulen building at Morehouse, Mr. Fox is now featuring a new machine called the John Deere Pick-Up-Hay Press, which gathers hay in the field and bales the hay as the implement is driven.

In addition to new stock, Mr. Fox sells used equipment and carries a large supply of binder twine.

PRISON FARMS HEAD

To the roster of state officials who will be here as members of the state chamber goodwill aerodrome must be added the name of Paul V. Renz, a member of the board of penal commissioners. Mr. Renz, a resident of Platte City, has charge of the prison farms.

Sikeston Resident Dies In Hospital at Cape

Mrs. Lida May Riley died Tuesday in the Southeast Missouri hospital at Cape Girardeau, where she had been a patient since last Saturday. Her death was caused by uremic poisoning.

Funeral services were conducted in the First Baptist church at 2:30 Thursday afternoon by the Rev. C. F. Transue, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene. Burial was in Memorial Park cemetery.

Mrs. Riley was born in Kentucky on March 7, 1881, and had been a resident of Scott county for thirty-one years. Her husband died five years ago.

She is survived by a son, Walter Riley, Sikeston; four daughters, Mrs. Mary D. Miller, Clarkton, and Mrs. Ethyl Gregory, Mrs. Alpha Montgomery, and Mrs. Lucille Montgomery, all of Detroit, Mich.; four sisters, Mrs. Clemmie Dobbs, Sikeston, Mrs. Maggie Hunter, Parma, Mrs. Bird Jordan, Gideon, and Mrs. Sallie Selvey, Overland, Mo.; and three brothers, John Gray, Frank Gray, and Coleman Gray, all of Sikeston. Albritton service.

Plans Completed For Area Camporee Here

Final arrangements for the 1935 Missouri area Boy Scout camporee to be held here Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, June 7, 8, and 9, were almost completed early this week after Sikeston Scouters had been named on committees to provide food, supplies, and programs.

Visiting Scouts will camp on the grammar school grounds, it was decided at a district Scout meeting Monday night after school board members had granted permission for use of the tract. Tents will be set up in staked-off plots around the school building. Numerous trees will provide shade and the rear of the grounds will be reserved for contests and programs. Scouts will have access to bath rooms in the basement of the structure.

On Thursday evening Scout troop committees were to choose men eligible for first and second class scout rankings, and Harry Dover, Earl Malone, and Dr. B. F. Blanton were to meet to consider applicants for star and life rankings and for merit badges. As district commissioner, Wilbur Ensor will be a member of these groups.

Scouts chosen for advancement will join others of the area at a court of honor which C. H. Denman will direct here Sunday afternoon, June 9, before the camporee ends.

Scouts of about twenty patrols will come here next week-end to attend the three-day outing held annually. Besides these, more than one patrol from each troop in the Sikeston district is expected. About 225 Scouts were present at

COUNTY REPUBLICANS TO CHOOSE OWN DELEGATES FOR SPRINGFIELD MEET

Southeast Missouri Republicans who met here Monday afternoon determined to allow each county central committee to choose official delegates to a midwestern Republican conference, which will be held at Springfield, Ill., June 10 and 11.

The meeting here had been called so that district delegates could be selected.

Since every district of Missouri will be entitled to fifteen votes at the Springfield convention, Republicans here decided that each of the ten counties within the district should be given one and a half votes. As many delegates as are able will attend the conference, but they will cast ballots as a group.

At least six Scott county Republicans will attend the meeting, according to George W. Kirk, chairman of the county Republican central committee, who will lead the group to the Springfield convention. Two others who now definitely plan to be present are R. E. Bailey and Cecil Reed, both of Sikeston. Three additional men have tentatively decided to go.

Mr. Kirk is writing prominent Republicans of the county to learn if they wish to attend the convention. Lists of certified delegates must be filed by Monday.

HOWARD TURNER WILL ACCEPT NEW POSITION

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Turner will move June 20 to Bethany, Mo., where Mr. Turner will accept a government position as assistant soil erosion technician. For several years Mr. Turner has been associated with the Central States Life Insurance Company, managing the organization's farm lands. He has maintained headquarters in Sikeston and in Kennett.

Vanduser Negro Woman Dies

Minerva Richards, the negro wife of Earl Richards, died at her home west of Vanduser Sunday morning following an acute heart attack. Services were held at 10 o'clock Monday morning at the Pilgrim's Rest church with Elder Johnson in charge. Burial was in the church cemetery. Besides her husband, Minerva Richards is survived by a child, three sisters, and two brothers. Welsh service.

POET TO HOLD REVIVAL AT NAZARENE CHURCH

The Rev. Lon R. Woodrum of Kansas City, the "poet preacher" will be here soon to conduct a two-weeks' revival at the Church of the Nazarene. The meeting will open Sunday, June 9, and will end on June 23.

The Rev. Mr. Woodrum is known in the literary world as "Tenney Balmwood". His works appear in the leading poetry journals and anthologies of the United States.

Members of the Sikeston church arranged for his appearance here a year ago. Before he comes, a temporary floor will be placed in the new church addition so that large crowds which attend the meetings may be accommodated. The addition will not be completed until after the revival ends.

Shoe Factory to Keep NRA Wages-Hours

The International Shoe Company Tuesday joined other nationally known concerns which declared that NRA wage and hour provisions would be retained.

In a statement to employees, received here Wednesday, W. H. Moulton, president of the International Shoe Company, said: "The decision of the supreme court declaring the NRA unconstitutional has not changed our attitude toward our employees and no change is being made in our wage and hour policies."

The factory here, which has followed code rulings since the NRA was established, operates on a five-day week schedule with eight-hour days. About twice a year, for eight-week periods, the factory has been kept open an additional five hours on Saturdays, an action sanctioned by the NRA code. Employees also have a minimum wage.

Before the National Recovery Act was passed, the factory was kept open six days a week and employees worked nine hours a day.

Objections to House Renumbering Withdrawn

Objections to the Junior Chamber of Commerce plan for renumbering Sikeston homes were removed late Monday afternoon when William Edom, an associate of the Missouri Inspection Bureau granted permission for completion of the project.

When he first came here May 21, Mr. Edom was supported by Sikeston insurance agents in his attempt to prevent the junior chamber from altering the town's east and west dividing line and from changing numbers to correspond more nearly with city blocks than formerly. Mr. Edom's objections were made because of expense which insurance companies would have in buying expensive detail maps of Sikeston and new rate books.

Mr. Edom withdrew his protest to the plan when he met by appointment with Dr. Howard A. Dunaway, David Blanton, Francis Webb, Charles Moore, and Kemper Bruton, a junior chamber committeemen chosen for the conference. Announcement of his decision was made at a regular chamber dinner meeting Tuesday night.

While he was here Monday, Mr. Edom said that insurance agents will abide by maps as they are now printed. There is no danger, however that policies will be made invalid by the change, he said. Agents had indicated last week that policy holders might have difficulty in securing claims if the renumbering project was retained. Contrary to Mr. Edom's early statements, new detailed maps of Sikeston will probably not be made for two or three years.

Meanwhile, under the direction of Kemper Bruton, chief sponsor of the project, workers are busy completing the house renumbering here. New figures have already been placed on residences in all sections except ward two and a small part of ward three. According to present plans, the house renumbering will be finished by Saturday. Next week Chamber members intend to have new numbers painted on buildings throughout the business section.

Two Bound to Court For Carlton Murder

Claud McGee and Floyd Smith, who are charged with the murder of W. T. Carlton at Gray's Point May 8, were bound over to the Scott county circuit court Wednesday after preliminary hearings before Judge W. C. Welman in Benton.

John B. Manor, also accused of the murder, has waived preliminary hearing. Of the remaining defendants, Ira G. Collins and Milas Sweet, both charged with burglary and larceny in connection with the crime, Collins has waived hearing. A preliminary for Sweet has not yet been set.

Testifying at the hearing after a full statement signed by him had been introduced as evidence, McGee said that he had supplied facts relating to his age, address, and relatives, but that the remainder of the confession, in which he gave a full account of the robbery and murder, was written by signifiers. He was told he had to sign the statement, he said, and was struck and kicked in the face and stomped by officers while he was being questioned. McGee's accusations were made after he had been called to the stand by his attorney, R. P. Smith.

Floyd Smith, who has consistently denied implication in the crime, did not testify. At the end of the hearing, J. Henry Caruthers, his attorney, moved that Smith be discharged, saying no testimony given had connected him with the robbery and murder. The motion was overruled when W. P. Wilkerson, prosecuting attorney, stated that McGee's written statement clearly showed that Smith was not only present when the crime was committed but that he fired shots at Mr. Carlton.

Trooper Melvin Dace and R. E. Stewart, a special agent for the Frisco railroad, discredited McGee's contention that he was mistreated, saying they were unaware he had been abused and adding he showed no effects of blows at the time the statement was taken by Mr. Stewart.

Mr. Stewart testified that no promises had been made to McGee in return for the confession and that he had not been harmed, while Trooper Dace, who was present when the statement was taken, said that McGee made it voluntarily before several officers.

Tom McGee, a brother of the defendant, and Edward Clinton, a cement plant worker, both testified at the hearing that Claud McGee's face was swollen and a discolored and that one of his eyes was blackened soon after the statement was taken.

PROMOTES AIR TOURS

As secretary-manager of the state Chamber of Commerce, Geo. A. Pickens is always active in making the organization's good-will tours successful. Last year he arrived at the Sikeston airport in the aerocade flagship, and with Governor Guy B. Park, Secretary of State Dwight H. Among other graduates will be Glenn Anderson of Matthews. George W. Kirk will also drive to Columbia Tuesday morning to attend the twenty-fifth anniversary of his graduating class at the University of Missouri and to attend commencement exercises. He will return Wednesday, bringing with him his son, Charles Leonard Kirk, who is a student at the university.

LOG CABIN TO BE BUILT HERE FOR SCOUT TROOP

Plans for the construction of a Boy Scout cabin at the southeast corner of the grammar school grounds were discussed Monday night at a meeting of chairmen and Scouters of the Sikeston district, held in George W. Kirk's office.

A proposal to build a cabin for use by Sikeston's three troops was made by Harry E. Dudley. Soon, W. E. Hollingsworth, chairman of the Sikeston Scout district, will appoint leaders to a committee to supervise construction. Men present stated that they could secure pine slabs free if they provided a truck for hauling and that they would be glad to help build the cabin.

Plans for the log structure were proposed chiefly because Scouts now have no place to store equipment at the armory, where they meet.

Arthur L. Cobb Cleared in Murder at Commerce

Arthur L. Cobb was exonerated Monday for the killing of Charles Williams at Commerce the night before when a coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

Cobb shot Williams with a 16-gauge single barrel shot-gun when Williams threatened to break down the door of Cobb's house after he had been refused admittance. Williams' body was later found lying in the weeds of a ditch 100 yards from the Cobb home. He had been wounded in the left chest.

Instructing the jurors before they went into private session, W. P. Wilkerson, prosecuting attorney read portions of a statute which allows persons to defend their homes from others attempting entrance.

Witnesses at the inquest, conducted at the Commerce city hall Monday afternoon by Coroner H. J. Welsh, were Arthur Cobb, the defendant, and his wife, Beulan Cobb. The jury's verdict read: "The deceased Charlie Williams came to his death by gunshot wounds, the said deceased being shot by Arthur Cobb; and the jury further finds the homicide to be justifiable." Jurors were V. A. Edmonds, J. B. Wise, H. H. Clark, Austin Fuller, B. W. Wise, and G. W. Marshall, all residents of Commerce.

Funeral services for Williams, a Mississippi river worker, were held in Commerce at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon. Burial was in the Oakdale cemetery near Commerce.

The dog poisoner has been abroad in the Southwest part of town and left a trail of grief among some children and a streak of oaths and burning thoughts among some men. It seems strange that things have come to such a pass that some competent person cannot be found to look after numerous stray and worthless dogs without someone having to put out poison and kill a kid's pet.

This story comes to us from a merchant in this city. A customer of many years refused to buy international shoes and gave his reason that the International Company seemed to uphold their employees in Sikeston who took advantage of the bankrupt law and settled their accounts with a postal card, by permitting them to continue working in the local plant. This is food for thought as all employees of this plant are paid regularly, are making fair wages and some big wages and just why they cannot live within their means and pay their bills is a puzzle. This customer of the merchant, and the merchant are of the opinion if the International officials would dismiss from the factory this class of employees it would be better for all concerned.

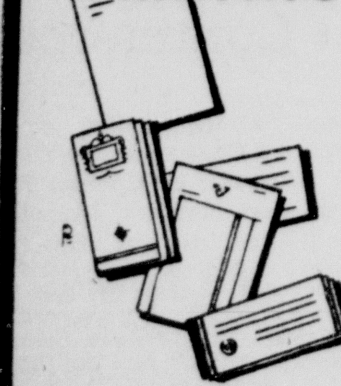

Murder will out. Sikeston has sent several very pretty girls to beauty contests and now it has just reached the press that one of our beauties received a letter from the Paramount people inviting her to appear with five other beauties to take a test for the part of the "Panther Woman", which was won by Kathleen Burke. No, she didn't go as Mamma objected. She might have been a star by now and married half a dozen times if she had taken the test.

The Standard shall continue to be issued from the same old stand it matters not what the decision of the Supreme Court is or was. The Standard is here for several reasons, the first of which, is to try to make a living for our own family, next for the families of our employees, then to give such news as we can gather, to express our opinions on things and conditions as they appear to us, asking no one to agree as we reserve the right to our opinion and give them the same.

Our next suggestion to the President is to try a few country merchants with experience and plenty of common sense as he has tried college professors with no practical experience but chock full of theory, and they didn't produce.

There are these advantages in buying Standard's ISO-VIS "D"

You SEE what goes into your crankcase
Iso-Vis "D" is dispensed from clean, clear glass bottles.

You see that you get full ACCURATE MEASURE
Each bottle of Iso-Vis "D" is clearly marked at the full quart level, carefully tested according to government standards.

You get the ORIGINAL ANTI-SLUDGE motor oil
This is the famous anti-sludge motor oil first introduced two years ago by Standard. Entirely overhead distilled, and purified by the Chlorox Extraction and Propane Dewaxing processes. Prevents piston rings and valves from sticking, oil lines and filters from fouling. A straight mineral oil that fully protects new-type high-speed bearing metals.

You get FASTER SERVICE
It is the quickest method yet devised for dispensing oil. Each quart is ready to pour into your crankcase immediately—no delay, no waste.

You pay for NOTHING EXTRA
You don't buy the bottle—there's no charge for the "package" when you get Iso-Vis "D". Every penny goes for the oil itself.

You get the RIGHT GRADE
Each bottle of Iso-Vis "D" is plainly labeled with the exact S.A.E. grade of oil it contains. The serviceman can advise which grade will give your particular car the most economical, safe lubrication.

You get an oil that LASTS LONGER
You'll find fewer added quarts between drains are necessary, because Iso-Vis "D" resists heat. It has a remarkably high "viscosity index," which means that extremes of temperature do not greatly change its body.

And here's ALL YOU PAY for the finest motor oil money can buy:
Iso-Vis "D" Motor Oil 25c a qt.
Plus Federal Tax 1c a qt.
Total 26c a qt.

NEW MADRID COUNTY SCHOOL NEWS

The Boys' State Fair School will be held at Sedalia on August 10 to August 17 and this county is entitled to one representative who must live on a farm, must be under the age of 16, and be a member of a grade school. High school boys are not eligible but eighth grade graduates are eligible. An examination will be given on Agriculture, Arithmetic, and Geography and the winner will be awarded the privilege of representing New Madrid county. This examination will be given at New Madrid on Friday, June 7 at 9:00 A. M., which will be the first day of the county teachers' examination also. The winner must pay his fare to and from Sedalia but when he reaches the Fair Grounds his expenses will be paid by the state.

Under the new work-relief program, the monthly wage schedule in Missouri for intermediate, skilled and professional work averages from $38 to $79 which averages $58.50 per month or $702.00 annually. Compare these annual wages to the thousands of weary, nerve-ridden rural teachers who do well to get an average annual salary of $480. And after receiving this generous wage, the teacher in many cases is expected to attend summer school and divide her liberal salary with the college professors who must also buy bread and meat.

The American Federation of Labor says this relief wage scale is too low and that it must be raised or strikes will follow. But we never hear of such nationwide agitation in behalf of the forgotten teachers. The teachers might be better off if they discarded their present organizations and become members of the A. F. L.

With the possible exception of the down trodden farmer, no other class of people have been more ignored and sinned against by our lawmakers than the teachers. In doing this these lawmakers are weakening our future democracy, for without education a democratic government cannot survive.

Some of these lawmakers make this mistake through ignorance, others to please such capitalistic organizations as the Associated Industries and their ilk. Indeed, the capitalists do not want the common people to become too wise for in so doing they might become dissatisfied with living in economic slavery.

When the present capitalistic system is thoroughly understood and when the public learns that the privileged amass millions through unreasonable and excessive profits accumulated at the expense of the common people who get only half pay, it is then that lawmakers will be elected who know how to levy income taxes, that will get money from those who have more than they need and can spend and thus keep the wealth distributed giving every person a chance to make a living and preventing the concentration of wealth which causes depressions.

The 1931 school law, as proposed originally, provided for full payment of state aid by income taxes on the rich and we all know how the Associated Industries and their hirelings defeated the plan so that the state aid has not been paid in full since, and will not be paid in full next year. Following is a list of rural eighth grade graduates not previously reported:

LaForge School—Juanita Puckett, Lena Beaman, Nora Taylor, Clovis Lancaster, Orville Skalsky, George Martin, John Sells and Harlene Sheridan, teacher.

CASTING REFLECTIONS

A mirror will bring out that priceless smile of youth.

YOU may think you have exhausted the supply of picture possibilities in your home but the chances are that there are countless interesting subjects you have completely overlooked. It is the unusual that attracts attention but it is necessary to use your eyes and a little imagination and ingenuity to ferret out these exceptional views, angles, etc., and get pictures that show individuality.

Mirror pictures, for instance, are intriguing and offer unlimited possibilities if one will do a little experimenting. Let's take the above picture as an example.

When focusing for reflected images only, it is necessary to add the distance from the mirror to the subject, to the distance from the mirror to the lens of the camera and then set the focus accordingly.

If it is desired to include the subject in the picture with the reflected image the focus should be set for the distance from the mirror to the lens. The smaller the lens opening the greater the depth of field and the sharper will be both images. Of course, the nearer the subject is to the mirror the less is required in the matter of "depth".

In the picture above, the subjects were about two feet and the camera six feet from the mirror. As both the subject and reflected image were to be included in the picture the focus was set at six feet. The diaphragm was set at f/16 and a photoflash furnished the light.

If the figures and camera were in a position to show only the reflected image in the picture being taken the focus would then have been set at the eight foot distance mark.

The diagram shows position of subjects, camera and photoflash when the above picture was taken. After setting the focus of your camera at the proper distance and the diaphragm at f/16 set the shutter for time exposure—"T". Do not have any bright lights in the room. Place photoflash lamp in ordinary floor lamp within reaching distance from the camera, as designated in diagram. Be sure to remove the shade from the lamp. Take your position at the camera and caution your subjects not to move. Press the cable release to open your shutter and immediately turn on the photoflash and then quickly close the shutter—and the picture has been taken. Photoflash lamps are made in two sizes, costing 15 and 25 cents each. For this type of picture the 25 cent size should be used.

In amateur photography experimenting becomes the spice of life and you will be surprised at the interesting effects you will get in working out "stunt" pictures on gloomy, rainy days when outdoor activities are taboo. Results in some instances may be rather grotesque but you will have a lot of inexpensive amusement and pictures that show individuality. Anyone can take the ordinary run of pictures but it requires a little ingenuity to get the unusual. That is what you should "shoot" for.

DIVISION OF TRAVELING COLLEGE STOPS HERE

Men in charge of a cafeteria division of an omnibus college sponsored by Wichita University arrived here Wednesday night and pitched the cafeteria tent behind the high school building to wait until other divisions of the college could reach this section.

After spending Thursday here they are to leave this (Friday) morning for Henderson, Ky., where they will meet autoades carrying part of the 270 persons enrolled in the college for an extensive tour of the eastern part of the United States. They were joined here by Murray Myers of Oran and Miss Margaret Ashbaugh of Clarkton, who will take the tour.

Leaving Wichita, Kan., Saturday night the truck was driven southeast to Joplin, then on to Sikeston. Others of the party were delayed by washouts which occurred when ten inches of rain fell near Wichita.

Dr. Frank Goldsmith is president of the college, which was founded in 1922 and has sponsored tours every summer since. Students, 90 per cent of whom are women, travel in three groups, each equipped with autoades and cafeterias.

While they are traveling, students are given instruction in history, English, journalism, and biology courses by men holding Ph. D and M. A. degrees. Part of the time is devoted to observation of places visited. Before the tour's end, students will be given examinations. Credits accumulated may be transferred to most of the country's major colleges.

At night, students sleep in autoade homes fitted with beds, dressers, and hangers. No one is allowed to keep luggage. When the parties stop for meals, the cafeteria tents are set up and students pass by the counters before sitting on camp stools provided for them.

The first tour, of which the truck here is a part, will last five weeks and will include visits to Mammoth Caves in Kentucky, the Shenandoah valley, Baltimore, Mo., Washington, D. C., Philadelphia, Penn., New York City, Asbury Park, N. J., Boston, Canada, Niagara Falls, Detroit, Mich., Chicago, and cities in Nebraska.

When the tour is ended on June 29, two others will be started, one east and one west. Between 500 and 600 persons are expected to enroll for this term of the omnibus college.

MADRID WHEAT GROWERS FAVOR CONTINUANCE

Although the final and official check up has not yet been made, a preliminary check up shows that 83 wheat signers voted for a continued program and 9 voted against it. Seventeen non-signers, who are eligible to sign a contract, voted for a continued program. This represented approximately 82 per cent of the wheat producers in the county.

GRAHAM BEAUTY SCHOOL TO BE OPENED SATURDAY

Residents have been invited by Sam Graham to attend the opening Saturday of his academy of beauty culture in the McCoy-Tanner building on Center street to see new equipment and arrangement of the school quarters and to meet Mrs. Thelma Kistner, of St. Louis, who will instruct classes.

On Saturday, too, students will be enrolled in the academy for a six-months' course, which may be finished more quickly than ordinarily if persons want to attend both night and day sessions. Special tuition rates will be offered to those enrolling now.

The academy is the only one of its kind in Sikeston. Mr. Graham expects to operate it permanently.

FLOYD GWALTNEY FINED FOR COMMON ASSAULT

Floyd Gwaltney was fined $25 and costs when he pled guilty in Judge Joseph W. Myers' court Thursday morning to a misdemeanor. He was given a week to pay the fine.

Gwaltney was arrested Tuesday by Constable W. O. Ellis and placed in the Benton jail after J. C. Campbell had filed a complaint in which he contended that Gwaltney had feloniously assaulted and wounded him with a knife. After spending a day in jail, Gwaltney was released on a $300 bond until time for his appearance in justice court.

At the hearing, W. P. Wilkerson, prosecuting attorney, altered the complaint, charging Gwaltney with a misdemeanor, common assault. The defendant admitted beating, striking and wounding Campbell.

WAR VETERAN SUCCUMBS AT HOSPITAL IN MEMPHIS

Funeral services for Fred T. Jones, 40 years old, who died of cancer of the stomach Wednesday morning in the veterans' hospital at Memphis, were held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Jones residence in Morehouse. The service was conducted by the Rev. A. C. Sullivan of Morehouse, and burial was in Memorial Park cemetery with military rites.

Mr. Jones, a Morehouse resident, entered the United States army in October, 1917, and was discharged in March, 1919, after serving in a field artillery division. He is survived by a brother, Charles Jones of Morehouse, and a sister, Mrs. Ruby Melton, of near Morehouse. Dempster service.

Safety pins, instead of modern invention, as most people suppose, are so old that their origin is lost in the mist of antiquity. The ancient safety pins were made of bronze—an alloy of copper and tin. It was at a comparatively late date that men learned to make a fire hot enough to smelt iron and make steel. Most of our safety pins are still made of brass. Iron or steel if buried in the ground will turn into rust in a few years and be destroyed, but bronze will last forever. Articles of bronze which were left by the Vikings of Scandinavia have been dug up in Ireland only recently. Among them was a religious lamp.

Old trunks in attics sometimes contain articles of value. It has been learned in the offices of Dwight H. Brown, secretary of state. Recently, a bond of the Missouri, Iowa & Nebraska railroad, defunct since 1886, was found to have a bankruptcy decree deposit in a New York City bank.

KITCHEN APPLIANCES NOW HAVE BEAUTY, HARMONY

The same elements of beauty and harmony of line which women seek in gowns are the same which more and more are ruling the design of kitchen appliances, according to W. P. Whitledge of the Whirlpool Electric Company, Kelvinator dealer, who has been notified of the appointment of Count Alexis de Sakhnoffsky, famed engineering stylist, as consulting stylist of Kelvinator Corporation.

Count Sakhnoffsky, whose automobile illustrations in Esquire magazine have gained wide recognition of his streamline principles of design, has applied his ideas of style with notable success to such varied products as automobiles, airplanes, electric irons, women's dresses, foundation garments, suspenders and teakettles.

It is his favorite contention that pots and pans should have the same sweeping beauty of design that a woman appreciates in her gowns and her automobile. A woman should not have to experience a slowing down feeling when she walks into her kitchen, and should have things around her that look as trim and speedy as the rest of her world.

"The appointment of Count Sakhnoffsky as engineering stylist for Kelvinator Corporation is another example of the sincere efforts which Kelvinator always is making to keep its products ahead of the field in both appearance and performance," Mr. Whitledge said. He pointed out that the 1935 Kelvinator models now on display at the local company's showroom represent the latest achievements in both cabinet design and mechanical performance. Sales records in Kelvinator showrooms all over the country further indicate that these new models in all probability will enable Kelvinator to establish a new high sales record for 1935.

MAKING LIVING SAFER

About all the average person knows of the fire insurance industry is that it issues policies protecting homes, factories, farms, and other physical property against the ravages of fire, but what is not commonly known is that the industry, through the National Board of Fire Underwriters, carries on other activities which are of inestimable benefit to the industries and individuals of the nation.

The National Board periodically inspects all cities and towns above a certain size, and prepares exhaustive reports upon their water supplies, fire departments, and fire alarm systems, pointing out defects and aiding in their correction. It likewise furnishes able and impartial engineering service to municipalities. Work such as this saves thousands of lives and millions of dollars worth of property that would otherwise be sacrificed to fire.

One of the most important of the Board's activities, and one which directly affects practically every person, is the Underwriters Laboratories. This organization conducts tests of building materials and supplies fire and prevent well they resist fire and prevent its spread. Machinery that presents a fire hazard is studied and classified. Fire extinguishing equipment is subjected to exhaustive performance tests. Such common household articles as electric irons, toasters, heaters and other electrical and gas devices are also studied in the Laboratories, and if found safe, are given a seal of approval which wise buyers always look for in purchasing equipment of that nature.

Services such as these, developed and continued by stock fire insurance, mean not only dollars in our pockets, but safer and more comfortable living for us all.

APRIL RETAIL BUSINESS WAS BEST SINCE 1931

New York.—The American public spent more money in retail stores during April than they did in the corresponding month of any year since 1931, it was stated by A. W. Zelmoeck, director and economist of the International Statistical Bureau, Inc. Despite the unfavorable weather conditions which preceded Easter, a total of $434,215,000 was spent by consumers during April in department stores, mail-order houses, and general and variety chain stores.

In the same month of 1934 such expenditures aggregated $374,959,000 and in March of this year amounted to $371,819,000.

The combined March-April volume, representing Easter business, showed a gain of $45,731,000 over the same months of last year and an increase of $220,623,000 above the corresponding period of 2 years ago, which was the low point of the depression.

A generally uniform upward trend in business last week was noted by Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., in its weekly review of trade conditions. The report stated:

"Irregular trade movements of recent weeks gradually are giving way to a more uniform upward trend. Settlement of labor difficulties has permitted industrial operations to hold a steadier level, and buying in wholesale markets is on the increase as summer requirements press more strongly for attention."

"In those parts of the country where a lag in retail sales persists it is attributed largely to unfavorable weather conditions, as the public appears to have more money to spend, which is indicated by the unchecked demand for automobiles, radios, electric refrigerators, and a gain of 20 to 25 percent in the paid admissions to motion-picture theatres as compared with the figures of a year ago."

SIKESTON, MISSOURI

RECOVERY NOTES

Compiled by Dwight H.rown, Secretary of State.

The sharpest business rise in 25 years is forecast for the immediate future in a recent business review by Dun and Bradstreet. The review added that the rise "will be fortified adequately to prevent the interrupting recessions which followed the spurts of the last two years."

On April 1, 1935, the federal government had spent $19,441,660 for road construction in Missouri in an effort to prime the recovery pump. These funds do not include the big appropriation the state is expecting for roads from the $488,000,000 work-relief program.

The watermelon and cantaloupe acreage this season in Southeast Missouri counties will be far larger than last year, according to Frisco Railroad officials. Last year the railroad hauled 1100 carloads of melons to market.

The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company reports that residents of the St. Louis area are having their telephones installed again. There were 795 more phones in that territory on April 1, 1935, than a year ago. Phone installation increases are regarded as excellent business barometers.

The Federal Reserve Board for the week ending May 7 reports increases of $225,000,000 in deposits in member banks in ninety-one leading cities. The weekly statement also reveals an increase of $72,000,000, in loans and investments during the week.

There has been a "tremendous" increase in the demand for farm land in Missouri during the last few weeks, according to Walter L. Rust, president of the Federal

Land Bank in St. Louis. "Professional men and investors," he says, "are beginning to realize that farm land is one of the best investments that can be made today."

Tourists boats will follow barge lines on the Missouri River in the opinion of Capt. Donald T. Wright, editor of Waterways Journal. Capt. Wright sees a great future for the river and points along the stream when river terminals are again built to serve freight and passenger traffic.

Missouri now has eight existing water power developments with a total horsepower of 23,995. There are now under consideration ten additional projects with a total of 526,000 horsepower. These projects, expected to get under way in the near future, will require many months to complete and will furnish employment to thousands.

April contracts for residential construction in the 37 states east of the Rocky Mountains were the largest for any month since 1931, the F. W. Dodge Corporation announces. The total for the month reached $42,000,000 as against only $22,635,000 for April 1934, and $32,209,000 for March of this year.

A steady maintenance of business activity during April is reported by the U. S. Department of Commerce. The report states that "most of the major production and distribution series for the first four months of the year have shown gains over the corresponding periods in 1934."

Production of automobiles during the first four months of 1935, was the third largest in the history of the industry, according to the Automobile Manufacturer's

Association. A total of 1,591,371 cars were manufactured during the period, the greatest number since 1926.

Bank clearings are again at a new high for the year, Dun and Bradstreet reports for the week ending May 8. The total for leading cities was $6,242,917.00 as compared with $5,157,101.00 for the corresponding week in 1934.

If this was a betting section, the odds on Sikeston again to win the Southeast Missouri Golf League title would be about 100 to 1. . . . Poplar Bluff and Dexter are likely to be the strongest challengers, with the edge to the Bluffers. . . . Orville Lumsden, the Sikeston stroking whiz, seldom makes a sensational shot. . . . but plugs along next to par on almost every hole. . . . Johnny Phillips, Poplar Bluff greensman, has plenty of form about his golfing. . . . George W. Kirk, veteran divot digger at Sikeston, uses a cross-hand grip, and doesn't do a great many things listed in the books, but you'll find his scores among the best shot in the district. . . .—Cape Missourian.

RFC APPROVES LOANS ON THREE DRAINAGE DISTRICTS

Application for Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans on three drainage districts have been approved and a fourth is now in process of being approved, it was learned this week. Approval of loans on all four is expected.

In districts twelve and fifteen, applications for loans have been approved and all bonds located. In district fourteen, however, all outstanding bonds have not been found. If the $5500 worth of bonds yet out are not located, the district will not be refinanced, it was learned.

In district ten, whose heads at first failed to secure an RFC loan, $200,000 worth of bonds and interest are outstanding. Since an exception to the corporation ruling has been filed, the district's application is being reopened for further consideration. Soon Ray Lucas, a Benton Attorney, and an associate of the engineering firm which dug number ten ditch will go to Washington to talk with authorities about the worth of the district and the advisability of granting a loan.

At the same time, L. T. Berthe, a Charleston engineer, will appear in Washington as a representative of the Mississippi River levy board to seek a refinancing loan for the levy.

RURAL CARRIERS LEAVE FOR DISTRICT MEETING

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dye, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Williams, and Mr. and Mrs. David Lumsden left Thursday morning for Steele, where they attended an annual spring meeting of the eighth district rural mail carrier's association and the association auxiliary. The morning program began at 10 o'clock with music, a play, and speeches by state officials of the organization. After a basket dinner at noon, members attended business sessions.

Buccaneers of the sea in the time of Henry Morgan, the 17th century had some admirable tenets. One had to endure hardships without complaint, a coward had no place in their ranks, they were extremely loyal to each other and did one of them suffer incapacity there was a fund which he could draw as long as he lived.

When England and France were at war with each other at the opening of the last century, American ships suffered great havoc from both nations, her ships and seamen seized and imprisoned. In retaliation against both countries Congress passed an embargo act which forbade all American ships to leave port of foreign countries.

CHAPTER SIX

A Threat

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE

Marion Forsythe, famous portrait painter, is, at the request of Richard Kurt, editor, writing her biography for the magazine, "Every Week." Her threatened exposure have already caused some perturbation, especially to Leander Nolan, a Senatorial candidate and Marion's childhood sweetheart. She is now in her studio with Melchior Feydak, who has just proposed to her. Marion's answer is that it is impossible for her to marry him—more.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

There was a wry smile on Marion's face as she gestured towards the study door.

Feydak followed her glance. "Oh—I see, Kurt." Marion said resolutely. "I'll tell you, Feydak—She stopped, confused.

"Go on," he encouraged her. She spoke half in earnest, half in jest. "I'm beginning to wonder if there isn't such a thing as a really great love."

"I see. Romeo and Juliet, eh?" "Something like that." She warmed to her subject. "I've thought I was in love more than once, but it was always—well—propinquity or a romantic mood or vanity perhaps. Almost everything except the great thing," she finished a little wistfully.

"Listen, my dear—and believe me," Feydak was intensely serious. "I'm not speaking for myself. I have waited so long that I have become patient. But, he threw up his hands, 'to fall in love with a man whose main idea in life is to stand on a soapbox and wave a red flag!'"

Marion smiled. "You underestimate him, Feydak. He has idealism, tolerance, of kindness, of consideration for others. They'd never mix with his."

Minnie burst in excitedly. "Marion, Mr. Warwick Wilson's here." "Tympi Wilson? Show him in. It's Warwick Wilson, the famous film star," she explained to Feydak. "So?" Feydak was mildly interested.

Wilson entered and posed in the doorway, fully conscious of the handsome picture he presented.

Then, breaking the pose with infinite grace, he rushed forward dramatically.

"Marion!" He raised her hand and kissed it passionately.

Then held her off admiringly. "No need asking how you are." "You either, Tympi. Look at that figure." Obliging Wilson posed again.

"Wonderbar!" Feydak exclaimed in fervent admiration.

Marion introduced the two men, then turned to see Minnie staring at Wilson, mouth agape. "Look," she said, "Minnie's so entranced with you she's petrified."

Minnie giggled, then ran to answer the bell which had been ringing insistently.

"There you are," Wilson complained good-humoredly, "can't escape my public. I have about as much privacy as a traffic signal."

"What would you do with it if you had it, eh, Tympi?" Marion asked slyly.

Wilson slapped his thigh. "Did you get that, Mr. Feydak? Now, what do you suppose she'll do to me in her book?"

"Oh, the book?" Marion's eyes danced. "So that's why you came to see me?"

"Sure. I got a little worried over what you might write about a certain famous film star." He looked far from worried, however; eager might have described his interest better.

Minnie stuck her head in the door. "Mr. Nolan—Bunny—for his sitting. Show him in."

Nolan stalked into the room, a tightly rolled magazine in his hand. "Hello, Bunny." Marion greeted him. "You know Mr. Feydak, Mr. Nolan, this is Warwick Wilson. Nolan bowed stiffly. "You're late, Bunny. Will the presence of these gentlemen embarrass you? I don't mind if you don't."

Marion Forsythe, famous portrait painter, is, at the request of Richard Kurt, editor, writing her biography for the magazine, "Every Week." Her threatened exposure have already caused some perturbation, especially to Leander Nolan, a Senatorial candidate and Marion's childhood sweetheart. She is now in her studio with Melchior Feydak, who has just proposed to her. Marion's answer is that it is impossible for her to marry him—more.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

There was a wry smile on Marion's face as she gestured towards the study door.

Feydak followed her glance. "Oh—I see, Kurt." Marion said resolutely. "I'll tell you, Feydak—She stopped, confused.

"Go on," he encouraged her. She spoke half in earnest, half in jest. "I'm beginning to wonder if there isn't such a thing as a really great love."

"I see. Romeo and Juliet, eh?" "Something like that." She warmed to her subject. "I've thought I was in love more than once, but it was always—well—propinquity or a romantic mood or vanity perhaps. Almost everything except the great thing," she finished a little wistfully.

"Listen, my dear—and believe me," Feydak was intensely serious. "I'm not speaking for myself. I have waited so long that I have become patient. But, he threw up his hands, 'to fall in love with a man whose main idea in life is to stand on a soapbox and wave a red flag!'"

Marion smiled. "You underestimate him, Feydak. He has idealism, tolerance, of kindness, of consideration for others. They'd never mix with his."

Minnie burst in excitedly. "Marion, Mr. Warwick Wilson's here." "Tympi Wilson? Show him in. It's Warwick Wilson, the famous film star," she explained to Feydak. "So?" Feydak was mildly interested.

Wilson entered and posed in the doorway, fully conscious of the handsome picture he presented.

Then, breaking the pose with infinite grace, he rushed forward dramatically.

"Marion!" He raised her hand and kissed it passionately.

Then held her off admiringly. "No need asking how you are." "You either, Tympi. Look at that figure." Obliging Wilson posed again.

"Wonderbar!" Feydak exclaimed in fervent admiration.

Marion introduced the two men, then turned to see Minnie staring at Wilson, mouth agape. "Look," she said, "Minnie's so entranced with you she's petrified."

Minnie giggled, then ran to answer the bell which had been ringing insistently.

"There you are," Wilson complained good-humoredly, "can't escape my public. I have about as much privacy as a traffic signal."

"What would you do with it if you had it, eh, Tympi?" Marion asked slyly.

Wilson slapped his thigh. "Did you get that, Mr. Feydak? Now, what do you suppose she'll do to me in her book?"

"Oh, the book?" Marion's eyes danced. "So that's why you came to see me?"

"Sure. I got a little worried over what you might write about a certain famous film star." He looked far from worried, however; eager might have described his interest better.

Minnie stuck her head in the door. "Mr. Nolan—Bunny—for his sitting. Show him in."

Nolan stalked into the room, a tightly rolled magazine in his hand. "Hello, Bunny." Marion greeted him. "You know Mr. Feydak, Mr. Nolan, this is Warwick Wilson. Nolan bowed stiffly. "You're late, Bunny. Will the presence of these gentlemen embarrass you? I don't mind if you don't."

Gross income last year on the Windyville plantation, located southeast of East Prairie, was $2088.76, it was announced Wednesday by a representative of the Central States Life Insurance Company, owner of the farm.

The most notable individual feature was from a fifteen-acre alfalfa tract. Averaging about six tons to the acre, the field yielded $461.10 from four cuttings. In addition to this, some hay that was traded for baling work was not counted in the gross total. Because of excess rain, the tract's yield will be smaller this year, according to D. F. Brantly of Kennett, manager of the farm. The plantation has a total of 200 acres. Gross incomes from other separate tracts are listed below: 68 acres in cotton $1138.21; 45 acres in corn $225.01; government rental payment on 40 acres, $264.44.

Mrs. Ralph Anderson, who, with her children, Betty and Billy Anderson, went to St. Louis Friday for a medical examination, is now in Jacksonville, Ill., visiting her mother, Mrs. W. R. Huckleby. She will probably be gone a month.

HOUSE FURNISHINGS

Our 38th Year in Southeast Missouri

OUR "HOUSE WARMING"

Almost a continual line of visitors lined our floors upstairs and down Friday and Saturday last in response to our special invitation to view our lately remodeled store. Records indicate there were between three and four thousand callers—among them a good number of purchasers. Compliments, flowers, praise and good wishes came in showers.

Among our guests were fifteen or twenty representatives of factories and wholesalers whose products we distribute. These gentlemen, in common with our home folks, pronounced our new place the outstanding retail furniture store between St. Louis and Memphis.

Of course, we appreciate deeply these evidences of endorsement and good will from the public.

Take our word for it we shall go in with every ounce of energy we possess to not only maintain but improve the pattern so many of you saw on Friday and Saturday.

There's something more required in operating a first class, useful furniture store, than a well arranged building and a varied stock.

That extra "something" is difficult to define but whatever it is we are determined to furnish "IT".

Our latch string is always out and our salesmen delight in showing people through the store we now have. Thanks again.

Read our store news every week.

We advertise what we have and ALWAYS have what we advertise.

Business is Good

Adv. Lineage Last Week

The Standard management will continue to operate under the code though the Blue Eagle is dead. In our line the code has not been enforced, though perfect cases were presented of chiseling which always has been resorted to and always will be. Our increased force will be kept, the same rate of pay and the shorter hours observed. No business establishment can operate without making a fair profit in order to pay expenses and live. The management employs a loyal force who pay their bills and are respected citizens of the community. Our advice to all who have been operating under the code is to continue so, as it is best for all concerned.

We heard a man say that he wouldn't depend on his wife as a character witness because she knew all his shortcomings and they might bob up in her mind before any of the good deeds that she might testify to, and this was about the true state of affairs. We have seen men being more than polite and agreeable to in company that his wife knew was the contrary at home. Boy, oh boy, don't let your wife tell all she knows about you, or you are sunk.

Walter McGee of Kansas City, one of the brothers who abducted Miss Mary McElroy, and who was to have been hanged today, was committed to life imprisonment by Governor Park, on the plea of Miss McElroy. We suppose in the course of time he will be paroled, then married, and they will live happily ever after.

The killing of the blue eagle has accomplished one thing that pleases us. It has given the man who pays the bill the right to hire and fire any of his force that he believes is a disturber or is not giving value received for his pay. Let this soak in on union agitators.

Hon. Charles Henson, of Springfield, Mo., was a Sikeston visitor Saturday and honored The Standard editor with a visit. Mr. Henson was a candidate in the last Democratic primary for Supreme Court Judge, but failed of the nomination. It is likely he will be a candidate at the coming election to fill the unexpired term of Judge Fitzsimmon, deceased. Governor Park and J. C. Collet are both spoken of as candidates for this office.

President Green of the American Federation of Labor, has threatened to call a strike of all union labor in the United States if his demands are not met. He fails to consider the men who own the plants and pay the bill. If the President would order the Department of Justice agents to arrest and throw in jail President Green and all his agitators for inciting riots, he would do all parties a good deed.

Howard Turner, just back from a trip in Northwest Missouri states farming in that section very backward with rains and cold weather preventing much plowing. At this late date corn will hardly mature up there before frost that will leave it soft in this section of the state cold weather and heavy rains have given bugs and worms a chance to play havoc with melons, corn and cotton.

We were not at all impressed with the Passion Play as given at the Methodist church Tuesday evening. In the first place the picture was too dim to show good and in the second place we didn't believe all that was shown, and in the third place, to us, it was sacrilegious. However, a large audience was present and the receipts satisfactory.

Decoration Day has come and gone and few soldiers of the Civil War remain. Their line grows thinner and their bodies more feeble and but a few more years gone will be left to tell of their feats performed in battle. The Confederate soldiers had at most six hundred thousand men in the field, while the Federal soldiers at the peak numbered a million and a half, so you see the south put up a wonderful fight for more than four years.

This paragraph is to notify local churches that advertising rates will be charged for space taken up by pictures of evangelists and outside preachers who hold meetings in this city. These preachers get paid for their services and should pay for their publicity.

The 118 page Progress Edition put out by the Poplar Bluff American-Republic, was, perhaps, the largest paper ever issued in the Central West for a city of like size. Its general make-up, the different sections devoted to things in general in that city and Southeast Missouri, the well-set ads, the subject-matter contained, the immense amount of time and money spent to perfect this edition speaks volumes for the office force from editor to devil. The merchants of the city should be complimented for the liberal support given the management for to them lies the success of the Progress Edition.

J. Henry Fox, who manages the Fox Farm Equipment Company in Morehouse, has built a substantial business, selling implements to numerous farmers living throughout the district. Mr. Fox handles a complete line of John Deere farm equipment.

During the selling season, Mr. Fox disposes of an average of two carloads of new John Deere machinery each month. This season alone he has sold thirty-nine tractors. At his quarters in the Dan Ulen building at Morehouse, Mr. Fox is now featuring a new machine called the John Deere Pick-Up-Hay Press, which gathers hay in the field and bales the hay as the implement is driven.

In addition to new stock, Mr. Fox sells used equipment and carries a large supply of binder twine.

Sikeston Resident Dies In Hospital at Cape

Mrs. Lida May Riley died Tuesday in the Southeast Missouri hospital at Cape Girardeau, where she had been a patient since last Saturday. Her death was caused by uremic poisoning.

Funeral services were conducted in the First Baptist church at 2:30 Thursday afternoon by the Rev. C. F. Transue, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene. Burial was in Memorial Park cemetery.

Mrs. Riley was born in Kentucky on March 7, 1881, and had been a resident of Scott county for thirty-one years. Her husband died five years ago.

She is survived by a son, Walter Riley, Sikeston; four daughters, Mrs. Mary D. Miller, Clarkton, and Mrs. Ethyl Gregory, Mrs. Alpha Montgomery, and Mrs. Lucille Montgomery, all of Detroit, Mich.; four sisters, Mrs. Clemmie Dobbs, Sikeston, Mrs. Maggie Hunter, Parma, Mrs. Bird Jordan, Gideon, and Mrs. Sallie Selvey, Overland, Mo.; and three brothers, John Gray, Frank Gray, and Coleman Gray, all of Sikeston. Albritton service.

Plans Completed For Area Camporee Here

Final arrangements for the 1935 Missouri area Boy Scout camporee to be held here Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, June 7, 8, and 9, were almost completed early this week after Sikeston Scouts had been named on committees to provide food, supplies, and programs. Visiting Scouts will camp on the grammar school grounds, it was decided at a district Scout meeting Monday night after school board members had granted permission for use of the tract. Tents will be set up in staked-off plots around the school building. Numerous trees will provide shade and the rear of the grounds will be reserved for contests and programs. Scouts will have access to bath rooms in the basement of the structure.

On Thursday evening Scout troop committees were to choose men eligible for first and second class scout rankings, and Harry Dover, Earl Malone, and Dr. B. F. Blanton were to meet to consider applicants for star and life rankings and for merit badges. As district commissioner, Wilbur Ensor will be a member of these groups.

Scouts chosen for advancement will join others of the area at a court of honor which C. H. Denman will direct here Sunday afternoon, June 9, before the camporee ends.

Scouts of about twenty patrols will come here next week-end to attend the three-day outing held annually. Besides these, more than one patrol from each troop in the Sikeston district is expected. About 225 Scouts were present at last year's camporee, held in Malden.

While residents may visit the camporee grounds at any time during the week-end they will be especially invited to attend informal campfire programs given by patrol members on Friday and Saturday evenings and to witness the court of honor program Sunday afternoon, when, it is hoped, a nationally known Scoutmaster, as well as some prominent Sikestonian, will speak. It is probable that the Sikeston Scout band will play.

Since visiting Scouts will attend Sunday schools and churches of their own choice on the last morning they are here, mothers of Sikeston Scouts will be asked to provide enough food for themselves and all visitors for a picnic lunch which will be held on the camp grounds at noon Sunday.

Members of a committee, appointed Monday night by W. E. Hollingsworth, to arrange for the picnic meal are Harry Dover, chairman, Clay Mitchell, Walter Rayburn, Mrs. H. E. Dudley, Mrs. Lee Bowman, and Mrs. A. J. Renner. Lon Swanner, George W. Kirk, and Mr. Hollingsworth will provide tables on which food will be placed.

Mr. Ensor, who in addition to being commissioner, is chairman of district activities, has charge of the entire camporee. Several Scouts will help gather supplies such as firewood and straw for bedding, and members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will provide observers and ribbons to be awarded high ranking patrols at the end of the camporee. The Chamber will also operate a soda stand at the camp grounds.

State Chamber Air Tour Is Postponed Because of Bad Weather Conditions

Because of the probability of rain storms this week-end, the third annual Missouri State Chamber of Commerce air tour has been postponed. A. W. Swacker, president of the Sikeston chamber, learned Tuesday afternoon in a telegram from Dr. John D. Brock, director of the tour. No date has been set for it.

"Due to the probability of continued rains which have made some fields unsafe for landing the wire read, 'it was thought advisable by the officials of the state Chamber of Commerce to postpone the air tour until a later date. We will advise you just as soon as the date is set.'"

SEMO BAR ASSOCIATION TO CONVENE AT CAPE

bar association, will preside at the dinner, which is scheduled to begin at 6:30. A memorial service for the late R. B. Oliver will be held in the common pleas courthouse at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Among the men asked to speak at the ceremony is Ralph E. Bailey, of Sikeston. To the roster of state officials who will be here as members of the state chamber goodwill aerodrome must be added the name of Paul V. Renz, a member of the board of penal commissioners. Mr. Renz, a resident of Platte City, has charge of the prison farms.

COUNTY REPUBLICANS TO CHOOSE OWN DELEGATES FOR SPRINGFIELD MEET

Southeast Missouri Republicans who met here Monday afternoon determined to allow each county central committee to choose official delegates to a midwestern Republican conference, which will be held at Springfield, Ill., June 10 and 11. The meeting here had been called so that district delegates could be selected.

Since every district of Missouri will be entitled to fifteen votes at the Springfield convention, Republicans here decided that each of the ten counties within the district should be given one and a half votes. As many delegates as are able will attend the conference, but they will cast ballots as a group.

At least six Scott county Republicans will attend the meeting, according to George W. Kirk, chairman of the county Republican central committee, who will lead the group to the Springfield convention. Two others who now definitely plan to be present are R. E. Bailey and Cecil Reed, both of Sikeston. Three additional men have tentatively decided to go.

Mr. Kirk is writing prominent Republicans of the county to learn if they wish to attend the convention. Lists of certified delegates must be filed by Monday.

HOWARD TURNER WILL ACCEPT NEW POSITION

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Turner will move June 20 to Bethany, Mo., where Mr. Turner will accept a government position as an assistant soil erosion technician. Vanduser Negro Woman Dies

Minerva Richards, the negro wife of Earl Richards, died at her home west of Vanduser Sunday morning following an acute heart attack. Services were held at 10 o'clock Monday morning at the Elgim's Rest church with Elder Johnson in charge. Burial was in the church cemetery. Besides her husband, Minerva Richards is survived by a child, three sisters, and two brothers. Welsh service.

POET TO HOLD REVIVAL AT NAZARENE CHURCH

The Rev. Lon R. Woodrum of Kansas City, the "poet preacher" will be here soon to conduct a two-weeks' revival at the Church of the Nazarene. The meeting will open Sunday, June 9, and will end on June 23.

The Rev. Mr. Woodrum is known in the literary world as "Tenney Balmwood". His works appear in the leading poetry journals and anthologies of the United States.

Members of the Sikeston church arranged for his appearance here a year ago. Before he comes, a temporary floor will be placed in the new church addition so that large crowds which attend the meetings may be accommodated. The addition will not be completed until after the revival ends.

Shoe Factory to Keep NRA Wages-Hours

The International Shoe Company Tuesday joined other nationally known concerns which declared that NRA wage and hour provisions would be retained.

In a statement to employees, received here Wednesday, W. H. Moulton, president of the International Shoe Company, said: "The decision of the supreme court declaring the NRA unconstitutional has not changed our attitude toward our employees and no change is being made in our wage and hour policies."

The factory here, which has followed code rulings since the NRA was established, operates on a five-day week schedule with eight-hour days. About twice a year, for eight-week periods, the factory has been kept open an additional five hours on Saturdays, an action sanctioned by the NRA code. Employees also have a minimum wage.

Before the National Recovery Act was passed, the factory was kept open six days a week and employees worked nine hours a day.

Objections to House Renumbering Withdrawn

Objections to the Junior Chamber of Commerce plan for renumbering Sikeston homes were removed late Monday afternoon when William Edom, an associate of the Missouri Inspection Bureau granted permission for completion of the project.

When he first came here May 21, Mr. Edom was supported by Sikeston insurance agents in his attempt to prevent the junior chamber from altering the town's east and west dividing line and from changing numbers to correspond more nearly with city blocks than formerly. Mr. Edom's objections were made because of expense which insurance companies would have in buying expensive detail maps of Sikeston and new rate books.

Mr. Edom withdrew his protest to the plan when he met an appointment with Dr. Howard A. Dunaway, David Blanton, Francis Webb, Charles Moore, and Kemper Bruton, a junior chamber committeemen chosen for the conference. Announcement of his decision was made at a regular chamber dinner meeting Tuesday night.

While he was here Monday, Mr. Edom said that insurance agents will abide by maps as they are now printed. There is no danger, however that policies will be made invalid by the change, he said. Agents had indicated last week that policy holders might have difficulty in securing claims if the renumbering project was retained. Contrary to Mr. Edom's early statements, new detailed maps of Sikeston will probably not be made for two or three years.

Meanwhile, under the direction of Kemper Bruton, chief sponsor of the project, workers are busy completing the house renumbering here. New figures have already been placed on residences in all sections except ward two and a small part of ward three. According to present plans, the house renumbering will be finished by Saturday. Next week Chamber members intend to have new numbers painted on buildings throughout the business section.

Two Bound to Court For Carlton Murder

Claud McGee and Floyd Smith, who are charged with the murder of W. T. Carlton at Gray's Point May 8, were bound over to the Scott county circuit court Wednesday after preliminary hearings before Judge W. C. Welman in Benton.

John B. Manor, also accused of the murder, has waived preliminary hearing. Of the remaining defendants, Ira G. Collins and Milas Sweet, both charged with burglary and larceny in connection with the crime, Collins has waived hearing. A preliminary for Sweet has not yet been set.

Testifying at the hearing after a full statement signed by him had been introduced as evidence, McGee said that he had supplied facts relating to his age, address, and relatives, but that the remainder of the confession, in which he gave a full account of the robbery and murder, was written by officers. He was told he had to sign the statement, he said, and was struck and kicked in the face and stomped by officers while he was being questioned. McGee's accusations were made after he had been called to the stand by his attorney, R. P. Smith.

Floyd Smith, who has consistently denied implication in the crime, did not testify. At the end of the hearing, J. Henry Caruthers, his attorney, moved that Smith be discharged, saying no testimony given had connected him with the robbery and murder.

The motion was overruled when W. P. Wilkerson, prosecuting attorney, stated that McGee's written statement clearly showed that Smith was not only present when the crime was committed but that he fired shots at Mr. Carlton.

Trooper Melvin Dace and R. E. Stewart, a special agent for the Frisco railroad, testified that McGee's contention that he was mistreated, saying they were unaware he had been abused and adding he showed no effects of blows at the time the statement was taken by Mr. Stewart.

Mr. Stewart testified that no promises had been made to McGee in return for the confession and that he had not been harmed, while Trooper Dace, who was present when the statement was taken, said that McGee made it voluntarily before several officers.

Tom McGee, a brother of the defendant, and Edward Clinton, a cement plant worker, both testified at the hearing that Claud McGee's face was swollen and a discolored and that one of his eyes was blackened soon after the statement was taken.

Last year he arrived at the Sikeston airport in the aerodrome flagship, and with Governor Guy B. Park, Secretary of State Dwight H. Brown, and other state officials who will be here again this year, he attended a luncheon given for members of the party by the Sikeston chamber.

LOG CABIN TO BE BUILT HERE FOR SCOUT TROOP

Plans for the construction of a Boy Scout cabin at the southeast corner of the grammar school grounds were discussed Monday night at a meeting of chairmen and Scouters of the Sikeston district, held in George W. Kirk's office.

A proposal to build a cabin for use by Sikeston's three troops was made by Harry E. Dudley, Soon, W. E. Hollingsworth, chairman of the Sikeston Scout district, will appoint leaders to a committee to supervise construction. Men present stated that they could secure pine slabs free if they provided a truck for hauling and that they would be glad to help build the cabin.

Plans for the log structure were proposed chiefly because Scouts now have no place to store equipment at the armory, where they meet.

Arthur L. Cobb Cleared in Murder at Commerce

Arthur L. Cobb was exonerated Monday for the killing of Charles Williams at Commerce the night before when a coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

Cobb shot Williams with a 16-gauge single barrel shot-gun when Williams threatened to break down the door of Cobb's house after he had been refused admittance. Williams' body was later found lying in the weeds of a ditch 100 yards from the Cobb home. He had been wounded in the left chest.

Instructing the jurors before they went into private session, W. P. Wilkerson, prosecuting attorney read portions of a statute which allows persons to defend their homes from others attempting entrance.

Witnesses at the inquest, conducted at the Commerce city hall Monday afternoon by Coroner H. J. Welsh, were Arthur Cobb, the defendant, and his wife, Beulah Cobb. The jury's verdict read: "The deceased Charles Williams came to his death by gunshot wounds, he said deceased being shot by Arthur Cobb; and the jury further finds the homicide to be justifiable." Jurors were V. A. Edmonds, J. B. Wise, H. H. Clark, Austin Fuller, B. W. Wise, and G. W. Marshall, all residents of Commerce.

Funeral services for Williams, a Mississippi river worker, were held in Commerce at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon. Burial was in the Oakdale cemetery near Commerce.

The dog poisoner has been abroad in the Southwest part of town and left a trail of grief among some children and a streak of oaths and burning thoughts among some men. It seems strange that things have come to such a pass that some competent person cannot be found to look after numerous stray and worthless dogs without someone having to put out poison and kill a kid's pet.

This story comes to us from a merchant in this city. A customer of many years refused to buy International shoes and gave his reason that the International Company seemed to uphold their employees in Sikeston who took advantage of the bankrupt law and settled their accounts with a postal card, by permitting them to continue working in the local plant. This is food for thought as all employees of this plant are paid regularly, are making fair wages and some big wages and just why they cannot live within their means and pay their bills is a puzzle. This customer of the merchant, and the merchant are of the opinion if the International officials would dismiss from the factory this class of employees it would be better for all concerned.

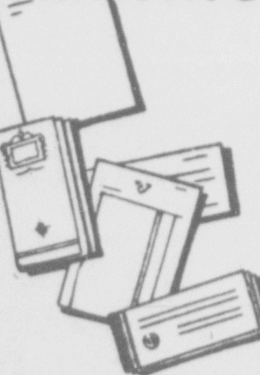

Murder will out. Sikeston has sent several very pretty girls to beauty contests and now it has just reached the press that one of our beauties received a letter from the Paramount people inviting her to appear with five other beauties to take a test for the part of the "Panther Woman", which was won by Kathleen Burke. No, she didn't go as Mamma objected. She might have been a star by now and married half a dozen times if she had taken the test.

The Standard shall continue to be issued from the same old stand it matters not what the decision of the Supreme Court is or was. The Standard is here for several reasons, the first of which, is to try to make a living for our own family, next for the families of our employees, then to give such news as we can gather, to express our opinions on things and conditions as they appear to us, asking no one to agree as we reserve the right to our opinion and give them the same.

Our next suggestion to the President is to try a few country merchants with experience and plenty of common sense as he has tried college professors with no practical experience but chock full of theory, and they didn't produce.

NEW MADRID COUNTY SCHOOL NEWS

The Boys' State Fair School will be held at Sedalia on August 10 to August 17 and this county is entitled to one representative who must live on a farm, must be under the age of 16, and be a member of a grade school. High school boys are not eligible but eighth grade graduates are eligible. An examination will be given on Agriculture, Arithmetic, and Geography and the winner will be awarded the privilege of representing New Madrid county. This examination will be given at New Madrid on Friday, June 7 at 9:00 A. M., which will be the first day of the county teachers' examination also. The winner must pay his fare to and from Sedalia but when he reaches the Fair Grounds his expenses will be paid by the state.

Under the new work-relief program, the monthly wage schedule in Missouri for intermediate, skilled and professional work ranges from $38 to $79 which averages $58.50 per month or $702.00 annually. Compare these annual wages to the thousands of weary, nerve-ridden rural teachers who do well to get an average annual salary of $480. And after receiving this generous wage, the teacher in many cases is expected to attend summer school and divide her liberal salary with the college professors who must also buy bread and meat.

The American Federation of Labor says this relief wage scale is too low and that it must be raised or strikes will follow. But we never hear of such nationwide agitation in behalf of the forgotten teachers. The teachers might be better off if they discarded their present organizations and become members of the A. F. L.

With the possible exception of the down trodden farmer, no other class of people have been more ignored and sinned against by our lawmakers than the teachers. In doing this these lawmakers are weakening our future democracy, for without education a democratic government cannot survive. Some of these lawmakers make this mistake through ignorance, others to please such capitalistic organizations as the Associated Industries and their ilk. Indeed, the capitalists do not want the common people to become too wise for in so doing they might become dissatisfied with living in economic slavery.

When the present capitalistic system is thoroughly understood and when the public learns that the privileged amass millions through unreasonable and excessive profits accumulated at the expense of the common people who get only half pay, it is then that lawmakers will be elected who know how to levy income taxes, inheritance taxes and gift taxes that will get money from those who have more than they need and can spend and thus keep the wealth distributed giving every person a chance to make a living and preventing the concentration of wealth which causes depressions.

The 1931 school law, as proposed originally, provided for full payment of state aid by income taxes on the rich and we all know how the Associated Industries and their hirelings defeated the plan so that the state aid has not been paid in full since, and will not be paid in full next year. Following is a list of rural eighth grade graduates not previously reported:

LaForge School—Juanita Puckett, Lena Beaman, Nola Taylor, Clovis Lancaster, Orville Skol-sky, George Martin, John Sells and Harlene Sheridan, teacher.

Stubblefield—Dorothy Cloin, Dan S. Tyler, teacher.

St. Mary—Cleona Weeks, Alvin Adams, Earl Culbertson, Mrs. Mildred Stanley, Teacher.

Broadwater—Jerlee Crowell, Eva Borah, Gladys Summers, Mrs. Evelyn Blackman, teacher.

Scott county farmers voted overwhelmingly for continuation of the federal government's wheat control plan in a poll taken last week. R. L. Furry, county agent, announced Monday afternoon. According to unofficial figures released by Mr. Furry, 278 former contract signers voted yes and only 28 no. Of non-signers, 137 favored continuation of the wheat program and 21 did not. CASTING REFLECTIONS

A mirror will bring out that priceless smile of youth.

YOU may think you have exhausted the supply of picture possibilities in your home but the chances are that there are countless interesting subjects you have completely overlooked.

It is the unusual that attracts attention but it is necessary to use your eyes and a little imagination and ingenuity to ferret out these exceptional views, angles, etc., and get pictures that show individuality.

Mirror pictures, for instance, are intriguing and offer unlimited possibilities if one will do a little experimenting. Let's take the above picture as an example.

When focusing for reflected images only, it is necessary to add the distance from the mirror to the subject, to the distance from the mirror to the lens of the camera and then set the focus accordingly.

If it is desired to include the subject in the picture with the reflected image the focus should be set for the distance from the mirror to the lens. The smaller the lens opening the sharper will be both images. Of course, the nearer the subject is to the mirror the less is required in the matter of "depth".

In the picture above, the subjects were about two feet and the camera six feet from the mirror. As both the subject and reflected image were to be included in the picture the focus was set at six feet. The diaphragm was set at f/16 and a photoflash furnished the light.

If the figures and camera were in a position to show only the reflected image in the picture being taken the focus would then have been set at the eight foot distance mark.

The diagram shows position of subjects, camera and photoflash when the above picture was taken. After setting the focus of your camera at the proper distance and the diaphragm at f/16 set the shutter for time exposure—"T". Do not have any bright lights in the room. Place photoflash lamp in ordinary floor lamp within reaching distance from the camera, as designated in diagram. Be sure to remove the shade from the lamp. Take your position at the camera and caution your subjects not to move. Press the cable release to open your shutter and immediately turn on the photoflash and then quickly close the shutter—and the picture has been taken. Photoflash lamps are made in two sizes, costing 15 and 25 cents each. For this type of picture the 25 cent size should be used.

In amateur photography experimenting becomes the spice of life and you will be surprised at the interesting effects you will get in working out "stunt" pictures on gloomy, rainy days when outdoor activities are taboo. Results in some instances may be rather grotesque but you will have a lot of inexpensive amusement and pictures that show individuality. Anyone can take the ordinary run of pictures but it requires a little ingenuity to get the unusual. That is what you should "shoot" for.

This fellow Orville Lumsden of Sikeston, who has a reputation of being a veritable shark at golf, is more than that. He not only has one of the prettiest drives we've seen but he is also death on pitch shots to the green. In Sunday's match with the Caruthersville Hayti players at Sikeston he sank seen but he is also death on pitch the green after Bob Morse had magnanimously offered to indicate the cup for him. . . subsequently, wishing he hadn't!—Caruthersville Democrat.

Many papers brag of their "coverage." We cover this section like a blanket with the Piggett Banner and that is not all! The Banner also covers numerous pantry shelves hither and yon. It covers pans of bread dough and the milk. It covers cracks in the window panes and the brooder house floor. It covers the bed springs to keep the cold from creeping through the thin mattresses. It covers the hen house walls and broken places in the plaster. And sometimes it covers a multitude of sins by not mentioning them.—Piggett Banner.

BANKHEAD APPLICATION SIGN-UP BEGINS IN MADRID

The Bankhead application sign-up is being started much earlier this year and should eliminate much of the difficulty encountered by farmers last year according to New Madrid county agent, Leslie B. Broom. It is hoped that the certificates will be available by the latter part of August.

Those who have not signed either an application for a contract or contract for 1935 are asked to come into the Bankhead office at once and make application for Bankhead certificates. Notices will be sent to contract signers giving the date and place to make application.

Also, those who may have surplus certificates must trade these for 1935 certificates in order to be able to use them. This must be done by June 10. No certificates will be exchanged after the above date.

Surprise Luncheon For Miss Emory

Delightful was the occasion on Friday, May 24 when a few friends met at the home of Mrs. Jennie Sikes before going across the street to the home of Mrs. R. C. Matthews where a surprise birthday luncheon was given by the Mesdames R. C. Matthews and J. E. Matthews in honor of Miss Sadie Emory. Miss Emory was fully aware of the preparation for the occasion, but not at all prepared for the presence of so many of her old school friends, since that part of the affair was kept a dark secret, until the appointed time when they were ushered in upon their arrival.

The festive board was most inviting in white and silver and emerald glassware, and bowls of white roses at either end, while the birthday cake, ornate in pink and white, aflame with burning candles occupied the place of honor in the center. Those present were Mrs. J. M. Cullison and Mrs. E. Lindsay Brown, both from Charleston, Mrs. Abbie Davis of Collinsville, Ill., Mrs. Elma Boaz of Parma, Mrs. Frank H. Smith and Mr. Minnie Sayers Smith. Miss Emory received many beautiful gifts and all present voted the Mesdames Mathews delightful hostesses.—Contributed.

FOUR OFFICERS ELECTED AT W. B. A. MEETING MON.

Sikeston Review of The Women's Benefit Association held its regular meeting Monday evening with President, Mrs. Mabel Patterson presiding.

The most important business transacted was the election of four officers as follows: President, Mrs. Geneva Bennett; vice-president, Mrs. Florence Rister; recording secretary, Mrs. Myrtle Marshall; treasurer, Mrs. Orilla Buchanan.

These offices were vacated by the resignation of the following respective officers: Mrs. Mabel Patterson, Mrs. Minnie Anderson, Mrs. Laura Kornegger who were unable to serve on account of illness and Mrs. Gussie Cole who has moved away.

Managing Deputy Rebecca Pierce, installed the new officers and they will have charge of the Review at the next meeting, June 10 at which time it is hoped all members will be present to help plan the family picnic for the latter part of June.

Miss Rebecca Pierce and Mrs. Birde Fox, delegates to the state convention held in St. Louis May 21, and 22, gave verbal reports of a very interesting and enjoyable convention. A written and thorough report will be read at the next meeting of the Review.

Mrs. Orilla Buchanan invites the Pageant club to meet with her Thursday afternoon, June 6, at the home on South Kingshighway.

After the meeting a social hour was enjoyed.

J. C. McDOWELL PENSION LAW IS TERMED "MOST IMPORTANT LEGISLATION"

Jefferson City, May 29—The old age pension law and the transfer of two-thirds of the eleemosynary costs from counties to state, both introduced by Senator J. C. McDowell of Charleston, were today declared by Governor Park to be "the most important and far reaching legislation enacted during the current session."

The old age pension law, which was introduced by Senator McDowell in conjunction with Senator Jerome Joffe, of Jackson County, was given first place in important legislation by Governor Park with the eleemosynary cost transfer placed second. In both these measures, it was largely due to the relentless efforts of the two Southeast Missouri Senators, McDowell and Langdon R. Jones of Kennett that they were successfully sent through legislative channels that resulted in their becoming laws. It was almost exclusively due to the untiring efforts of the other Southeast Missouri Senator, Langdon R. Jones, that revenue was provided to finance these two laws. According to Governor Park's formal statement submitted to the senate, the revenue provided by the one percent sales tax will "no more than pay the actual costs of old age pension, eleemosynary costs and relief necessities."

ARBUS CLASS MEETING POSTPONED

Due to the B. Y. P. U. study class held at the First Baptist church next week, the meeting of the Arbutus class to have been held on Monday night, has been postponed until a later date.

DIVISION OF TRAVELING COLLEGE STOPS HERE

Men in charge of a cafeteria division of an omnibus college sponsored by Wichita University arrived here Wednesday night and pitched the cafeteria tent behind the high school building to wait until other divisions of the college could reach this section.

After spending Thursday here they are to leave this (Friday) morning for Henderson, Ky., where they will meet autocades carrying part of the 270 persons enrolled in the college for an extensive tour of the eastern part of the United States. They were joined here by Murray Myers of Oran and Miss Margaret Ashbaugh of Clarkton, who will take the tour.

Leaving Wichita, Kan., Saturday night the truck was driven southeast to Joplin, then on to Sikeston. Others of the party were delayed by washouts which occurred when ten inches of rain fell near Wichita.

Dr. Frank Goldsmith is president of the college, which was founded in 1922 and has sponsored tours every summer since. Students, 90 per cent of whom are women, travel in three groups, each equipped with autocades and cafeterias.

While they are traveling, students are given instruction in history, English, journalism, and biology courses by men holding Ph. D. and M. A. degrees. Part of the time is devoted to observation of places visited. Before the tour is ended, students will be given examinations. Credits accumulated may be transferred to most of the country's major colleges.

At night, students sleep in autocade homes fitted with beds, dressers, and hangers. No one is allowed to keep luggage. When the parties stop for meals, the cafeteria tents are set up and students pass by the counters before sitting on camp stools provided for them.

The first tour, of which the truck here is a part, will last five weeks and will include visits to Mammoth Caves in Kentucky, the Shenandoah valley, Baltimore, Mo., Washington, D. C., Philadelphia, Penn., New York City, Asbury Park, N. J., Boston, Canada, Niagara Falls, Detroit, Mich., Chicago, and cities in Nebraska.

When the tour is ended on June 29, two others will be started, one east and one west. Between 500 and 600 persons are expected to enroll for this term of the omnibus college.

MADRID WHEAT GROWERS FAVOR CONTINUANCE

Although the final and official check up has not yet been made, a preliminary check up shows that 83 wheat signers voted for a continued program and 9 voted against it. Seventeen non-signers, who are eligible to sign a contract, voted for a continued program. This represented approximately 82 per cent of the wheat producers in the county.

GRAHAM BEAUTY SCHOOL TO BE OPENED SATURDAY

Residents have been invited by Sam Graham to attend the opening Saturday of his academy of beauty culture in the McCoy-Tanner building on Center street to see new equipment and arrangement of the school quarters and to meet Mrs. Thelma Kistner, of St. Louis, who will instruct classes.

On Saturday, too, students will be enrolled in the academy for a six-months' course, which may be finished more quickly than ordinarily if persons want to attend both night and day sessions. Special tuition rates will be offered to those enrolling now.

The academy is the only one of its kind in Sikeston. Mr. Graham expects to operate it permanently.

FLOYD GWALTNEY FINED FOR COMMON ASSAULT

Floyd Gwaltney was fined $25 and costs when he pled guilty in Judge Joseph W. Myers' court Thursday morning to a misdemeanor. He was given a week to pay the fine.

Gwaltney was arrested Tuesday by Constable W. O. Ellis and placed in the Benton jail after J. C. Campbell had filed a complaint in which he contended that Gwaltney had feloniously assaulted and wounded him with a knife. After spending a day in jail, Gwaltney was released on a $300 bond until time for his appearance in justice court.

At the hearing, W. P. Wilkerson, prosecuting attorney, altered the complaint, charging Gwaltney with a misdemeanor, common assault. The defendant admitted beating, striking and wounding Campbell.

WAR VETERAN SUCCUMBS AT HOSPITAL IN MEMPHIS

Funeral services for Fred T. Jones, 40 years old, who died of cancer of the stomach Wednesday morning in the veterans' hospital at Memphis, were held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Jones residence in Morehouse. The service was conducted by the Rev. A. C. Sullivan of Morehouse, and burial was in Memorial Park cemetery with military rites.

Mr. Jones, a Morehouse resident, entered the United States army in October, 1917, and was discharged in March, 1919, after serving in a field artillery division. He is survived by a brother, Charles Jones of Morehouse, and a sister, Mrs. Ruby Melton, of near Morehouse. Dempster service.

Safety pins, instead of modern invention, as most people suppose, are so old that their origin is lost in the mist of antiquity. The ancient safety pins were made of bronze—an alloy of copper and tin. It was at a comparatively late date that man learned to make a fire hot enough to smelt iron and make steel. Most of our safety pins are still made of brass. Iron or steel if buried in the ground will turn into rust in a few years and be destroyed, but bronze will last forever. Articles of bronze which were left by the Vikings of Scandinavia have been dug up in Ireland only recently. Among them was a religious lamp.

Old trunks in attics sometimes contain articles of value. It has been learned in the offices of Dwight H. Brown, secretary of state. Recently, a bond of the Missouri, Iowa & Nebraska railroad, defunct since 1886, was found to have a bankruptcy decree deposit in a New York City bank.

KITCHEN APPLIANCES NOW HAVE BEAUTY, HARMONY

The same elements of beauty and harmony of line which women seek in gowns are the same which more and more are ruling the design of kitchen appliances, according to W. P. Whitledge of the Whitledge Electric Company, Kelvinator dealer, who has been notified of the appointment of Count Alexis de Sakhnoffsky, famed engineering stylist, as consulting stylist of Kelvinator Corporation.

Count Sakhnoffsky, whose automobile illustrations in Esquire magazine have gained wide recognition of his streamline principles of design, has applied his ideas of style with notable success to such varied products as automobiles, airplanes, electric irons, women's dresses, foundation garments, suspenders and teakettles.

It is his favorite contention that pots and pans should have the same sweeping beauty of design that a woman appreciates in her gowns and her automobile. A woman should not have to experience a slowing down feeling when she walks into her kitchen, and should have things around her that look as trim and speedy as the rest of her world.

"The appointment of Count Sakhnoffsky as engineering stylist for Kelvinator Corporation is another example of the sincere efforts which Kelvinator always is making to keep its products ahead of the field in both appearance and performance," Mr. Whitledge said. He pointed out that the 1935 Kelvinator models now on display at the local company's showroom represent the latest achievements in both cabinet design and mechanical performance. Sales records in Kelvinator showrooms all over the country further indicate that these new models in all probability will enable Kelvinator to establish a new high sales record for 1935.

MAKING LIVING SAFER

About all the average person knows of the fire insurance industry is that it issues policies protecting homes, factories, farms, and other physical property against the ravages of fire, but what is not commonly known is that the industry, through the National Board of Fire Underwriters, carries on other activities which are of inestimable benefit to the industries and individuals of the nation.

The National Board periodically inspects all cities and towns above a certain size, and prepares exhaustive reports upon their water supplies, fire departments, and fire alarm systems, pointing out defects and aiding in their correction. It likewise furnishes able and impartial engineering service to municipalities. Work such as this saves thousands of lives and millions of dollars worth of property that would otherwise be sacrificed to fire.

One of the most important of the Board's activities, and one which directly affects practically every person, is the Underwriters Laboratories. This organization conducts tests of building materials and supplies to determine how well they resist fire and prevent its spread. Machinery that presents a fire hazard is studied and classified. Fire extinguishing equipment is subjected to exhaustive performance tests. Such common household articles as electric irons, toasters, heaters and other electrical and gas devices are also studied in the Laboratories, and if found safe, are given a seal of approval which wise buyers always look for in purchasing equipment of that nature.

Services such as these, developed and continued by stock fire insurance, mean not only dollars in our pockets, but safer and more comfortable living for us all.

APRIL RETAIL BUSINESS WAS BEST SINCE 1931

New York. — The American public spent more money in retail stores during April than they did in the corresponding month of any year since 1931, it was stated by A. W. Zelmoek, director and economist of the International Statistical Bureau, Inc. Despite the unfavorable weather conditions which preceded Easter, a total of $434,215,000 was spent by consumers during April in department stores, mail-order houses, and general and variety chain stores.

In the same month of 1934 such expenditures aggregated $374,959,000 and in March of this year amounted to $371,819,000.

The combined March-April volume, representing Easter business, showed a gain of $45,731,000 over the same months of last year and an increase of $220,623,000 above the corresponding period of 2 years ago, which was the low point of the depression.

A generally uniform upward trend in business last week was noted by Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., in its weekly review of trade conditions. The report stated:

"Irregular trade movements of recent weeks gradually are giving way to a more uniform upward trend. Settlement of labor difficulties has permitted industrial operations to hold a steadier level, and buying in wholesale markets is on the increase as summer requirements press more strongly for attention."

"In those parts of the country where a lag in retail sales persists it is attributed largely to unfavorable weather conditions, as the public appears to have more money to spend, which is indicated by the unchecked demand for automobiles, radios, electric refrigerators, and a gain of 20 to 25 percent in the paid admissions to motion-picture theatres as compared with the figures of a year ago.

"Continued cool weather favored the movement of spring merchandise, with fewer fears now expressed regarding carry-overs at the close of the season."

"Retail sales for the week averaged 5 to 10 per cent larger than for the comparative 1934 period, taking the country as a whole."

WASHINGTON.—Sales of general merchandise in small towns and rural areas for April 1935 were about 37 per cent higher in dollar volume than for April 1934 and were 64 per cent above the same month of 1933, the Commerce Department announced.

Daily average sales for April increased about 7 per cent from March, or considerably more than the estimated seasonal amount.

It was said. The seasonally adjusted index for April was 101 per cent of the 1929-31 monthly average, compared with 97 1-2 in March and 90 1-2 in February. Total sales for the first 4 months of 1935 were 20 1-2 per cent higher than for the same period of 1934, statistics show.

Frederick Sutcliffe Summers, 61, and his two aged sisters lived in a rented house in Aberdeen, Scotland. When neighbors reported no activity around the house for weeks, police broke in and found Summers and one sister dead, the other sister in a dying condition. An autopsy disclosed the brother and sister had died of starvation, although $90 was found in the bare cupboard. Explanation: They were afraid to spend the money for food for fear they would be unable to pay the rent.

RECOVERY NOTES

Compiled by Dwight H.rown, Secretary of State.

The sharpest business rise in 25 years is forecast for the immediate future in a recent business review by Dun and Bradstreet. The review added that the rise "will be fortified adequately to prevent the interrupting recessions which followed the spurts of the last two years."

On April 1, 1935, the federal government had spent $19,441,660 for road construction in Missouri in an effort to prime the recovery pump. These funds do not include the big appropriation the state is expecting for roads from the $4,880,000,000 work-relief program.

The watermelon and cantaloupe acreage this season in Southeast Missouri counties will be far larger than last year, according to Frisco Railroad officials. Last year the railroad hauled 1100 carloads of melons to market.

The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company reports that residents of the St. Louis area are having their telephones installed again. There were 795 more phones in that territory on April 1, 1935, than a year ago. Phone installation increases are regarded as excellent business barometers.

The Federal Reserve Board for the week ending May 7 reports increases of $225,000,000 in deposits in member banks in ninety-one leading cities. The weekly statement also reveals an increase of $72,000,000 in loans and investments during the week.

There has been a "tremendous" increase in the demand for farm land in Missouri during the last few weeks, according to Walter L. Rust, president of the Federal

Land Bank in St. Louis. "Professional men and investors", he says, "are beginning to realize that farm land is one of the best investments that can be made today."

Tourists boats will follow barge lines on the Missouri River in the opinion of Capt. Donald T. Wright, editor of Waterways Journal. Capt. Wright sees a great future for the river and points along the stream when river terminals are again built to serve freight and passenger traffic.

Missouri now has eight existing water power developments with a total horsepower of 23,995. There are now under consideration ten additional projects with a total of 526,000 horsepower. These projects, expected to get under way in the near future, will require many months to complete and will furnish employment to thousands.

April contracts for residential construction in the 37 states east of the Rocky Mountains were the largest for any month since 1931, the F. W. Dodge Corporation announces. The total for the month reached $42,000,000 as against only $22,635,000 for April 1934, and $32,209,000 for March of this year.

A steady maintenance of business activity during April is reported by the U. S. Department of Commerce. The report states that "most of the major production and distribution series for the first four months of the year have shown gains over the corresponding periods in 1934."

Production of automobiles during the first four months of 1935, was the third largest in the history of the industry, according to the Automobile Manufacturer's

Association. A total of 1,591,371 cars were manufactured during the period, the greatest number since 1926.

Bank clearings are again at a new high for the year. Dun and Bradstreet reports for the week ending May 8. The total for leading cities was $6,242,917.00 as compared with $5,157,101.00 for the corresponding week in 1934.

If this was a betting section, the odds on Sikeston again to win the Southeast Missouri Golf League title would be about 100 to 1. . . . Poplar Bluff and Dexter are likely to be the strongest challengers, with the edge to the Bluffers. . . . Orville Lumsden, the Sikeston stroking whiz, seldom makes a sensational shot. . . . but plugs along next to par on almost every hole. . . . Johnny Phillips, Poplar Bluff greensman, has plenty of form about his golfing. . . . George W. Kirk, veteran divot digger at Sikeston, uses a cross-hand grip, and doesn't do a great many things listed in the books, but you'll find his scores among the best shot in the district. . . . Cape Missourian.

The nurse for Phillip Arthur Van Black, III, 7 months old, took extreme care that no accident should befall her charge. She put a feather bed on the floor beside the child so if he rolled off he wouldn't be injured by the fall. She returned to find him face down on the tick, smothered to death. It happened in Chicago.

RURAL CARRIERS LEAVE FOR DISTRICT MEETING

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dye, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Williams, and Mr. and Mrs. David Lumsden left Thursday morning for Steele, where they attended an annual spring meeting of the eighth district rural mail carrier's association and the association auxiliary. The morning program began at 10 o'clock with music, a play, and speeches by state officials of the organization. After a basket dinner at noon, members attended business sessions.

CHAPTER SIX A Threat

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE Marion Forsythe, famous portrait painter, is at the request of Richard Kurt, editor, writing her biography for the magazine, "Every Week." Her threatened exposure has already caused some perturbation, especially to Leander Nolan, a sensational candidate and Marion's childhood sweetheart. She is now in her studio with Melchior Feydak, who has just proposed to her. Marion's answer is that it is impossible for her to marry him—now.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY There was a wry smile on Marion's face as she gestured towards the study door. Feydak followed her glance. "Oh—I see, Kurt." "Maybe," Marion said reservedly. "I'll tell you, Feydak—" She stopped, confused. "Go on," he encouraged her. She spoke half in earnest, half in jest. "I'm beginning to wonder if there isn't such a thing as a really great love."

"I see. Romeo and Juliet, eh?" "Something like that." She warned to her subject. "I've thought I was in love more than once, but it was always—well—propinquity or a romantic mood or vanity perhaps. Almost everything except the great thing," she finished a little wistfully. "Listen, my dear—and believe me," Feydak was intensely serious. "I'm not speaking for myself. I have waited so long that I have become patient. But," he threw up his hands, "to fall in love with a man whose main idea in life is to stand on a soapbox and wave a red flag!" Marion smiled. "You underestimate him, Feydak. He has ideals!" "So have you, my dear—ideals of tolerance, of kindness, of consideration for others. They'd never mix with his."

Minnie burst in excitedly. "Marion, Mr. Warwick Wilson's here." "Tympi Wilson? Show him in. It's Warwick Wilson, the famous film star," she explained to Feydak. "So?" Feydak was mildly interested. Wilson entered and posed in the doorway, fully conscious of the handsome picture he presented.

Then, breaking the pose with infinite grace, he rushed forward dramatically. He raised her hand and kissed it passionately. "Then held her off admiringly. 'No need asking how you are.' 'You either, Tympi. Look at that figure.' Obligingly Wilson posed again. 'Wonderbar!' Feydak exclaimed in fervent admiration. Marion introduced the two men, then turned to see Minnie staring at Wilson, mouth agape. 'Look,' she said, 'Minnie's so entranced with you she's petrified.'

Minnie giggled, then ran to answer the bell which had been ringing insistently. "There you are," Wilson complained good-humoredly, "can't escape my public. I have about as much privacy as a traffic signal. 'What would you do with it if you had it, eh, Tympi?' Marion asked slyly.

Wilson slapped his thigh. "Did you get that, Mr. Feydak? Now, what do you suppose she'll do to me in her book?" "Oh, the book?" Marion's eyes danced. "So that's why you came to see me?" "Sure. I got a little worried over what you might write about a certain famous film star." He looked far from worried, however; eager might have described his interest better.

Minnie stuck her head in the door. "Mr. Nolan." "Oh, Bunny—for his sitting. Show him in." Nolan stalked into the room, a tightly rolled magazine in his hand. "Hello, Bunny," Marion greeted him. "You know Mr. Feydak. Mr. Nolan, this is Warwick Wilson." Nolan bowed stiffly. "You're late, Bunny. Will the presence of these gentlemen embarrass you? I don't mind if you don't."

"As a matter of fact, Marion—" Nolan began irritably. Marion gently but firmly propelled him into the throne chair on the model stand. "O sit down like a good fellow. The light is getting bad."

She went to her easel and Nolan, with obvious unwillingness, assumed his pose. There was silence for a moment as Wilson and Feydak watched her intently. Then Nolan stirred. "What's the matter, Bunny?" Marion asked. "You seem under a strain."

Nolan glared at all of them. "It's like being watched while you're taking a bath." "Oh, I'm so sorry, Bunny." "I quite sympathize with you, sir," Feydak said. He rose. "Well, I'm off, Marion. Auf Wiedersehen."

"You'll have to go—both of you," Marion looked meaningfully at Wilson. "I was just going," he said. "I've got a personal appearance at six forty-five."

After their departure, the room seemed strangely empty. Then Marion emitted an audible sigh. "Now, then, what is it, Bunny?" "This confounded story, Marion."

The Rev. Dorsey D. Ellis, pastor of the Presbyterian church, sponsor of the school, will serve as pastor-counselor. J. A. O'Hara will be superintendent and Mrs. Ruby Hamby the school musician. Miss Lucille Noyes will instruct intermediate students; Miss Camolita Jones, juniors; and Miss Dessie Bartlett, primary children. All children between the ages of 5 and 16 inclusive may attend the school, which will be held at the Presbyterian church. The catechisms and the apostle's creed will be taught to all students. In addition, these courses have been planned for individual groups; intermediate, "What I Believe"; juniors, "Tutoring Together through Bible Lands"; and Primary, "Learning to Know God Better".

Gross income last year on the Windyville plantation, located southeast of East Prairie, was $2088.76, it was announced Wednesday by a representative of the Central States Life Insurance Company, owner of the farm.

The most notable individual re- ture was from a fifteen-acre alfalfa tract. Averaging about six tons to the acre, the field yielded $461.10 from four cuttings. In addition to this, some hay that was traded for baling work was not counted in the gross total. Be- cause of excess rain, the tract's yield will be smaller this year, according to D. F. Brantly of Kennett, manager of the farm.

The plantation has a total of 200 acres. Gross incomes from other separate tracts are listed below: 68 acres in cotton $1138.21; 45 acres in corn $225.01; govern- ment rental payment on 40 acres, $264.44.

Mrs. Ralph Anderson, who, with her children, Betty and Billy Anderson, went to St. Louis Friday for a medical examination, is now in Jacksonville, Ill., visit- ing her mother, Mrs. W. R. Huck- eby. She will probably be gone a month.

HOUSE FURNISHINGS

Our 38th Year in Southeast Missouri

OUR "HOUSE WARMING"

Almost a continual line of visitors lined our floors upstairs and down Friday and Saturday last in response to our special invitation to view our lately re-modeled store. Records indicate there were between three and four thousand callers—among them a good number of purchasers. Compliments, flowers, praise and good wishes came in showers.

Among our guests were fifteen or twenty representatives of factories and wholesalers whose products we distribute. These gentlemen, in common with our home folks, pronounced our new place the outstanding retail furniture store between St. Louis and Memphis.

Of course, we appreciate deeply these evidences of endorsement and good will from the public.

Take our word for it we shall go in with every ounce of energy we possess to not only maintain but improve the pattern so many of you saw on Friday and Saturday.

There's something more required in operating a first class, useful furniture store, than a well arranged building and a varied stock.

That extra "something" is difficult to define but whatever it is we are determined to furnish "IT".

Our latch string is always out and our salesmen delight in showing people through the store we now have. Thanks again.

Read our store news every week.

We advertise what we have and ALWAYS have what we advertise.
